Summer Reading List

Choose two from each column:

The Invisible Man - Ralph Ellison	No-No Boy - John Okada	The Man in the High Castle - Philip K. Dick
Native Son - Richard Wright	The Grapes of Wrath - John Steinbeck	Death of a Salesman - Arthur Miller
Sula - Toni Morrison	My Ántonia - Willa Cather	Catch-22 - Joseph Heller

Summer Writing Assignment:

1. You have six texts to read. Please utilize four of the texts as evidentiary and analytical support in an argumentative essay of no less than 1000 words that provides an answer to the following question:

What is the essential nature of the American experience?

2. Choose one of the remaining two texts that you read; you should prioritize the text that you believe offers the most intriguing and/or compelling answer to the question which you answered in your first essay. In an essay of no less than 1000 words you must take an argumentative stance on what it presents as the essential nature of the American experience and methodically analyze how the text conveys this stance on the American experience. Please be sure to consider the writer's personal background, intended audience, the time period in which the text was written, possible purpose(s) the text might serve, and any rhetorical or symbolic devices that may be at work in the text that you have chosen.

3. For the last remaining book of the six required texts, please write a persuasive essay of at least 750 words as to why it is (or is not, your call) representative of the essential nature of the American experience. If the latter, please suggest an alternative text and make a case for its merits in relationship to the question of American identity and experience.

All assignments must be submitted to Turnitin.com by 2359 on August 13th, 2021.
Late assignments will not be considered for credit.
