Program Description

THE PROGRAM

A named Scholar in the program prepares for advanced studies at the university level through a liberal arts curriculum that is interdisciplinary and multi-faceted. The program is designed upon three pillars: scholarship, citizenship and discipleship. Students will explore the humanities and understand their intersection with science and technology through issue-oriented investigations. They will grapple with such critical questions as “What shapes our knowledge?”, “What makes good science?”, “How does one live a just and happy life?”, and “What does it mean to be human?”

Students are expected to enroll in Honor or AP sections of academic courses in the years prior to applying to the program. Once in the program, they will practice all the following: analytical and critical thinking skills, advanced research techniques, writing acuity, and effective verbal communication. The Junior Humanities Seminar will engage the students in critical inquiry, social justice perspectives, philosophical ethics and community-focused service projects rooted in the Lasallian tradition. In their Senior year, students will use the skills they have acquired to develop, defend and present an original research thesis.

At its core, the program is designed to encourage students to understand the intrinsic connections between their intellectual development and their responsibilities as global citizens. Many of the enrichment activities offered by the program are fueled by this intent.

Guiding Principles

Each year, Central Catholic High School inducts a small number of outstanding sophomores into The Brother David S. Baginski, FSC Scholars Program. This is a highly selective two-year program for juniors and seniors of exceptional merit and potential.

Established in 2002, the program is designed to enhance and enrich the academic and cultural experiences of talented, highly motivated students. The program can supplement academic interests in the humanities, social sciences and applied sciences. It offers challenging curricular opportunities, encourages interdisciplinary and multi-disciplinary approaches to learning, and provides opportunities for travel. Through their shared extracurricular activities and dedication to academic excellence, students become a community of scholars that build important connections and reinforce the program's commitment to the ethical application of knowledge and social justice.

MISSION STATEMENT

The mission of The Brother David S. Baginski, FSC Scholars Program is to foster intellectual and cultural growth essential to leadership in the service of humanity.

Participation in this program provides Scholars with a strong foundation that fosters intellectual curiosity, civic engagement, diversity of perspectives, leadership, creativity, innovation, experiential learning, applied learning, scholarship, culture of integrity, effective communication, community-building.

A deeper goal of the program is to motivate Scholars to reach beyond their individual niches and to understand that they can affect justice in society and, in fact, have a responsibility to do so.

DIVERSITY IN SCHOLARS

To ensure the success of all students, the Scholars Program is committed to diversity and inclusion.

THE SCHOLARS PROGRAM MOTTO

communitas docta virtutis a scholarly community of virtue.

PILLARS AND VALUES

- Scholarship: We pursue truth with courage and conviction
- Citizenship: We participate in the creation of a more just world
- Discipleship: We serve others with compassion in the LaSallian tradition

THE SCHOLARS MEDAL

The Scholars' medal was first awarded at the 2017 Baccalaureate Ceremony. It was designed by the Directors, Patrizia Costa and John J. Allen with Brother Benedict Oliver, FSC. Our three pillars—scholarship, citizenship, and discipleship—appear on a ribbon above our motto. Four symbols are stamped in bronze: hands joining in solidarity representing the foundation of democratic citizenship; laurel leaves indicating peace and justice; a lamp of learning signifying devotion and constancy to our mission; and a book of scholarship representing the school's commitment to life-long learning. The name and graduation date of each scholar is engraved on the reverse. The school seal completes the design.

Brother David S. Baginski, FSC

Brother David was born in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania on June 1, 1947. He attended Pittsburgh grammar schools and graduated from South Hills Catholic High School in 1964. He entered the Brothers' Novitiate in Ammendale, Maryland on June 15 of that year. In 1969, he received a B.A. degree from LaSalle College. His major was English. He continued his studies also at Southern California University and Duquesne.

He took his perpetual vows in Pittsburgh on May 14, 1972 and dedicated 25 years of his life as a De La Salle Christian Brother. In addition to serving as vice principal and teacher at Central Catholic from 1983 to 1991, he also served at South Hills Catholic (69-75), West Catholic in Philadelphia (75-76, 79-83), St. John's College High in Washington (91-92), Seaton-La Salle (92-94) and Hudson Catholic Regional in Jersey City (94-96). In the late 70's, he worked as the District Vocations Director.

The tall, lanky teacher with a charismatic demeanor made his classes come alive with his gregarious teaching style and an eclectic taste in literature. He was a mentor to some, a father to others, and an inspiration to the lives he touched daily. Many recall him as a "people's principal" who tended to the needs of the students, faculty and staff. He had a great capacity to touch the hearts of young people, his Brothers and colleagues. Wherever he went, he was a source of community, great excitement and energy as well as much playfulness and laughter. The District of Baltimore described him as one of the "worker bee" giants in its history. He loved learning and infusing the same passion in his students. As an administrator, he always taught the largerst class whether it was English, Religion or other subjects.

One of his favorite quotes was this one by the 19th-century Quaker Missionary Etienne de Grellet: "I shall pass through this world but once. If, therefore, there be any kindness I can show, or any good thing I can do, let me do it now ... for I shall not pass this way again."

Brother David died on April 23, 1996 at Hudson Catholic High School in Jersey City, NJ. Two beautiful trees were planted on campus in his honor to symbolize the growth he fostered in his students.

DESIGNATION OF THE PROGRAM ON THE SCHOOL TRANSCRIPT

Students in good standing may list their affiliation to the program on their transcript and use this special recognition in applying to post-secondary institutions.

A COMMUNITY OF SCHOLARS

The program values the examination of ideas both individually and within a community of scholars. Students in the program develop a shared intellectual curiosity by taking a seminar together in Junior year and by sharing their research efforts in Senior year. Through events and outings, students also have opportunities to learn together outside of the classroom.

INTERDISCIPLINARY AND MULTI-DISCIPLINARY WORK

Students who have a significant interest in a STEM track explore interdisciplinary work in the humanities by taking advantage of a comparative approach whereby an idea is examined from at least two analytical vantage points.

OPPORTUNITIES TO FORGE CONNECTIONS

Scholars forge connections with alumni, friends of the program, distinguished academics and field experts.

THE SCHOLARS ROOM

Located on the first floor of the main building, the Scholars Room provides a quiet study area for students in the Scholars Program. Students are encouraged to use the space all year long during free periods and for after-school activities.

Admission to the Program

Our program welcomes applications from highly qualified and motivated sophomores. Many of our applicants are in the top 10% of our school, but this is not a requirement for eligibility. What we value most is an applicant's desire to participate in a communal life of scholarship and ethical service, to ground themselves in critical thinking through texts and discussion, and to engage with fellow students and faculty members in developing research projects that may set the stage for future opportunities and ways of thinking.

We highly regard applicants who are keenly motivated to contribute to a program that will, in turn, nourish their high school experience and their ambitions in the service of humanity.

ELIGIBILITY

Qualified students are selected from a pool of applicants each Spring. This is a competitive process, and no one is guaranteed entrance. All eligible students are encouraged to apply. Transfer students may apply no later than the beginning of the Fall term at the discretion of the Directors.

To be eligible, students should:

- Be in their Sophomore year
- Have taken a minimum of three Advanced Placement or Honors courses. One of these must be a writing-intensive course such as AP Human Geography, Exploring Literature and Writing I or II, or AP European History
- Demonstrate an ability to work at a minimum GPA level of 3.5
- Demonstrate academic competence and excellence
- Have an interdisciplinary and multidisciplinary curiosity
- Show promising interest in social causes and the passion to make positive difference in the world
- Be willing to participate in discussions with confidence, resourcefulness of ideas, maturity and respect for others
- Demonstrate a commitment to abide by the high standards of academic integrity at Central Catholic
- Be enrolled or plan to enroll in three years of foreign language study or take an AP language course

THE APPLICATION PROCESS

Interested students are invited to apply through the application available on the program's webpage and an interview with the directors. Admission decisions are made in the spring semester (usually in March) for admission the following Fall. Incomplete applications will not be considered. If an applicant is unsure of curricular requirements, program expectations or opportunities available to them through the program, he is encouraged to meet with one of the program directors before starting to work on his application.

APPLICATION MATERIALS

All eligible applicants who wish to be considered for admission will be asked to:

- Complete an application
- Provide two teacher recommendations
- Write a short response on an assigned question
- Provide a writing sample from a class assignment in their sophomore year
- Provide a copy of their grades or transcript

AT THE APPLICATION INTERVIEW

Students interviewing with the Directors of the program will be asked a series of questions about their application and motivation for applying. The interviews are used to assess their suitability and interest in the program.

Students should demonstrate an ability to articulate their own ideas and express a willingness to belong within a community of scholars who travel together, study together, and reflect on their experiences as a collective group. The professional conduct of interviewees will be considered, as well as their verbal and analytical skills.

Students can also use the interview as an opportunity to ask questions about the program.

PROGRAM FEE

The Baginski Scholars Program implemented a fee of $775 beginning in the Fall of 2018. This fee helps to cover the cost of some Scholars Forum events, trips, and other program activities. The fee is charged in conjunction with tuition at the beginning of the Fall semester. Requests for fee waivers will be considered for financial aid recipients.

If, at any time, a student no longer wishes to be a member of the scholars' program, the student will receive a refund in accordance with the following refund policy:

- A student who withdraws from the program prior to the beginning of the Fall Semester, is entitled to a full refund of any monies paid that year.
- Withdrawal during the Fall semester will provide a partial refund ($250). Withdrawal during the Spring 2023 semester will provide no refund.

Curriculum

JUNIOR HUMANITIES SEMINAR

(Level 5, AP Level, 1 credit)

The humanities seminar explores some of the most enduring philosophical, ethical, and social questions of humanity through a variety of ancient and contemporary texts, spanning multiple genres. The seminar is taught in small discussion settings like undergraduate and graduate seminars. Students will be conversant in classical texts of an ethical nature and will be asked to write and express their thoughts utilizing various philosophical frameworks.

Students reflect on the nature of truth, and goodness from varied perspectives, including great works of literature and many avenues of philosophical discourse. Students will be tasked with participation in and application of a service project in addition to a summative position paper of their own choosing. The strength of the seminar experience lies in the communal discussion and debate of primary texts, and the empowerment of students to engage the contemporary problems of the world through an historical, literary, and philosophical lens. In the spring, Juniors will travel as a class, usually over a three-day period, to provide aid to poor or marginalized communities. The site locations are non-profit, 501c3 or faith-based organizations whose mission and work address community needs.

By the completion of Junior Seminar, students should be able to:

- Evaluate the world from culturally diverse and nuanced perspectives
- Understand the broad scope of ethics from ancient to contemporary discourse through the investigation of primary source materials
- Critically engage with philosophical theories and theorists that challenge the status quo of societies and cultures
- Identify and apply differing ethical systems, while articulating their advantages and disadvantages
- Synthesize and analyze moral questions raised by works of literature, poetry, and philosophy as they relate to the questions “What does it mean to be human?” and “How does one live a just and moral life?”
- Write and research competently in the style of informed, academic discourse

SCHOLARS FORUM

(Pass/Fail, ½ credit)

This half-credit course features discussions on contemporary issues, performances, visiting-guest lectures by renowned experts, films, musical and theatrical performances, and field trips. The course allows students to engage in cultural explorations beyond the traditional classroom setting. Students must attend a minimum of 5 events per semester to receive a passing grade for the course.

SENIOR THESIS

(Pass/Fail 1 credit)

Senior Thesis marks the culmination of a student's experience in the Scholars Program. Students engage in a sustained examination of a significant problem, question, or issue under the guidance of the Senior Director, a second reader and field professional/expert. They articulate a developed, ethical argument in response to the motivating question or issue. The end goal is to make an independent contribution to human knowledge.

Excellent research, analysis, and contextualization of a body of primary and secondary sources is expected. Students go beyond what others have written and to think critically, incorporate their own ideas, and reflect on the topic in an original way. They must also venture outside of the classroom and assume the responsibilities associated with a commitment to independent scholarship. The value of the thesis will be inherent not just in the thesis itself but in the thesis process. Students learn to: conceptualize and structure their work over interim goals and deadlines; develop a relationship with advisors; deepen their understanding of a specific topic; explore their personal values around a topic; learn to overcome obstacles and setbacks; work with limited resources; practice good time management; hone their critical thinking and writing skills.

By the completion of Senior Thesis, students should be able to:

- Develop critical questions about complex issues or ideas and develop their own perspectives rather than simply accept those of previous scholars
- Question, organize, and use prior knowledge about a topic
- Evaluate the relevance, credibility, limitations and implications of evidence used to support an argument, taking context into consideration
- Employ appropriate disciplinary, interdisciplinary, or multi-disciplinary approaches to form a well-reasoned scholarly argument
- Attribute knowledge and ideas accurately using an appropriate citation style
- Offer solutions, conclusions based on research, analysis, or evidence, considering limitations and implications
- Adapt an argument for context, purpose and/or audience
- Engage in peer review to receive and thoughtfully consider constructive responses to one's work
- Demonstrate perseverance on a long-term project and manage time accordingly
- Employ ethical research practices
- Present their work in an engaging way in a public forum and manage an Q&A session with skill and tact

All theses are defended in early Spring. They are presented at the Senior Thesis Symposium in April. A bound physical copy and a digital copy of each thesis is housed in the Scholars Library.

BAGINSKI SCHOLARS ABROAD

(Pass/Fail ½ credit)

Each summer, usually in June and July, the Scholars Program offers a short term (10- to 15-day) study abroad elective. This elective provides a rich academic and cross-cultural experience where students are encouraged to make intrinsic connections between their intellectual development and their responsibilities as global citizens.

In the two semesters before the trip, the Directors and/or a guest faculty member coordinate readings and a series of workshops that provide immersive study of location-specific topics in the humanities and sciences.

The following is a list of study abroad opportunities offered by the program since 2017 (with the exclusion of pandemic years).

- 2017 The Arts and Cultures of Rome – Glenn Campbell, History
- 2018 The Giants of Albion: Curated Readings From Britain – Todd Rooney, English
- 2019 La variedad española: Una historia compleja – Brian Hanrahan, World Languages
- 2022 Jewels of the Adriatic Sea – Justin Belardi, Science

Students who have participated in past study abroad electives have characterized the experience as “life-changing” because of the following opportunities:

- To advance in personal growth and acquire cultural awareness about different places and people
- To see other viewpoints that differ from their own ethnic, national, or religious perspectives
- To become more culturally empathetic, tolerant, self-confident, and independent
- To increase their intercultural proficiency
- To increase levels of international political concern, cross-cultural interest, and cultural cosmopolitanism

Good Standing and Withdrawal

GOOD STANDING IN THE PROGRAM

The Brother David S. Baginski, FSC Scholars Program prides itself on being a program of opportunity, rather than one of requirements. However, there are some standards to which students must adhere. Scholars are expected to:

1. Maintain high academic standards. A GPA check will occur periodically. Students must maintain Honor Roll status (3.5 GPA average) every semester. If a Scholar's cumulative unweighted GPA falls below 3.5, he must submit a petition for a probationary semester or quarter. It should be stressed that merely submitting a petition does not guarantee a student's ability to continue in the program. A petition will be approved or rejected after review. A meeting with one of the Directors is also required for all students who are petitioning for a probationary semester or quarter
2. Accumulate a minimum of 15 credits in Honors or Advanced Placement (AP) level courses
3. Make a commitment to be an active and willing participant in Scholars Program offerings, including attending scholar forum events and participating in cultural and service-learning trips
4. Actively abide by the Standards of Academic Integrity set forth by Central Catholic HS. Violation of Academic Integrity will not be tolerated. All violations will be referred to the Honor Board who will recommend a course of action to the Directors. Violations of cheating, abet cheating or plagiarism in any classes at Central Catholic or falsification in one's academic work will be cause for dismissal from the Scholars' Program
5. Demonstrate strong character and appropriate comportment, especially in their interactions with one another. Consequently, the program directors reserve the right to dismiss from the Scholars Program any student who patently disparages another scholar or exhibits behavior unbecoming of a Central Catholic student.

WITHDRAWAL FROM THE PROGRAM

By withdrawing, a student formally relinquishes all the rights, privileges, and responsibilities of a Baginski Scholar at Central Catholic High School.

Students who wish to withdraw from the program must first meet with the Directors to discuss the request and its ramifications, including their graduation requirements. If moving forward with the withdrawal, the student must present a declaration of intent to withdraw in the form of a letter to the Directors stating his reason for withdrawal. Only when this request is acknowledged in writing by the directors—and therefore not, automatically upon submitting it—will a student be officially withdrawn from the program. The counseling office will make the approved changes to his schedule and transcript after that.

Students who withdraw from the program in this fashion in their junior year, however, are not automatically dropped from Junior Seminar. This may entail completing unfinished work for a grade even though the student has dropped or intends to drop the Scholars Program.

Outcomes of the Program

HARVARD BOOK AWARD

Each year, at the all-school Honors Convocation one outstanding senior Scholar is awarded “The Harvard Book Award” for demonstrating excellence in scholarship and achievement in other nonacademic areas. This award is given by the alumni of Harvard University in nearly 2,000 selected high schools from around the world. Central Catholic is one of these schools.

BEST THESIS AWARD

At the Senior Symposia, the Faculty Advisory Council for the Scholars Program presents a “Best Senior Thesis” award to one student based on the following criteria: originality, work ethic, writing, knowledge of the field, and societal impact. Several awards for “Outstanding work on the Senior Thesis” and one award for “Best Presentation” are awarded as well.

The following is a list of Best Theses since 2017:

- Max Nowalk, Using a Chomsky-Herman Lens to Understand Fear in the Media, 2017

- Warren Sipe, Facilitating Positive Business-Community Interactions to Mitigate the Impacts of Gentrification in the Pittsburgh Area, 2018
- Simon Hebert, The Happiness Habit: an Introduction to the Skills and Practices Conducive to Happiness, 2019
- Nathan Jordan, Bottom Text: A Mimetic Approach to Understanding Community and Postmodernism, 2020
- William Koloc, Third Spaces that Bring Communities Together: A Narrative Inquiry into Pittsburgh Polish Hill, Alcoholics Anonymous and Central Catholic High School, 2021
- Jason Ficorilli, Reconsidering Club Functionality and Controlled Club Development in European Football: A Critical Inquiry of UEFA's Club Licensing and Financial Fair Play Regulations, 2022

SCHOLARS MEDAL

At Commencement, Scholars receive a bronze medal in recognition of their superlative achievements in the program.

Scholars Forum

One of the highlights of the program is the Scholars Forum. This is a half-credit course that students enroll in for both semesters of their Junior and Senior years. It features lectures, local field trips, discussions, films, gallery exhibitions, poetry readings, opera and symphony performances.

SCHOLARS OPEN FORUM

The Open Forum provides an opportunity for Seniors to design their own discussion sessions. Here they can debate critical issues and examine a range of questions drawn from the arts, sciences and politics. They may also present on an aspect of their ongoing research for Senior Thesis.

GRADING CRITERIA

To receive a grade of “pass,” students must attend five events on the Forum’s calendar by the end of each semester. Incomplete grades will not be given in this course. Students may have absences during the semester, either excused or unexcused, and they may still receive a grade of “pass” if they attend 5 events. Students must attend all events with the Scholar’s group, not independently. Nor can they get credit for attending the same event through another class at Central. Failure to meet the attendance requirement will result in probation or dismissal from the program.

FORUM ETIQUETTE

All students are expected to adhere to relevant rules of etiquette while in the Forum. All books, cell phones and iPads must be put away, unless students are taking notes. Students should sit up and focus on the presentation. Questions to Forum guests must be posed in a respectful manner. Please note that tardiness is unacceptable. Students arriving late will not receive attendance credit.

Sophomore Reading Group

Sophomores who are admitted into the program will spend part of their Spring semester reading scholarly articles assigned by the Directors. This material will enrich students' appreciation of theology, philosophy, the arts, social justice and literature. Discussions of these articles with fellow Scholars will provide opportunities for the students to bond and begin to form quality relationships within the program.

DISCUSSION MEETINGS

Discussion meetings will take place afterschool and last about an hour. The meetings will be driven not by lecture, but by conversation. Like all conversations, they will take on a life of their own. There is no single format for participating in them. But since the conversations are the sole means by which the Directors can assess the depth of a Scholar's engagement with the texts, these guidelines may be of help.

At the minimum, students should be able to address the following questions:

1. What is the essay or article about? What questions does it seem to be asking? How are these questions answered?
2. What arguments are proposed in the various parts of the text, and how? Do these arguments make sense? Are they ethical?
3. Is the text true, in whole or in part? Is it a convincing representation of human experience? Does it distort or falsify a condition?
4. Why does the text matter? How should we live life differently, according to the author?
5. Can you think of opposing arguments that are more important than those offered by the texts?

Scholars may want to prepare a page-length outline of the texts, so they can recall its form and content at a moment's glance. Compiling a list of important questions to ask about the texts is also a good idea.

The Scholars Library

A Scholars Library was founded in 2017 with donations from alumni and friends of the program. Its purpose is to:

- Provide a central location for resources related to Junior Seminar, Scholars Forum, and Senior Thesis
- Provide a repository for all Senior Theses
- Provide stewardship in the “great books”
- Enrich the scholarly environment for students in the program.

The library welcomes gifts of books and other materials that will enrich the library’s collection. We are most interested in the following types of materials: hardbound books on theology, philosophy, the arts, social justice, and great works of literature. Media material on these subjects will be considered as well.

Books and materials will be gratefully accepted provided they enhance the value of the collection. All donations will become sole property of the library without restriction. A bookplate is placed into books donated or purchased for the library.

Cultural Explorations

FALL SCHOLARS TRIP

All students in Scholars Program take part in one trip per year to a major arts and culture city in the USA. In recent years, we have visited Boston, New York, Washington DC, Cleveland, Philadelphia and Chicago.

The trips are scheduled with sightseeing, museum visits, performances, and lectures by special guests. The trip aims to expose students to the nature of travel and introduces them to a new culture and city. The itinerary is meant to enrich the intellectual content that the boys are already learning, in effect, extending the classroom beyond the walls of Central Catholic. The trip challenges students by engagement with university professors in a classroom setting, entering into dialogue with critical texts and experts in their field. Another goal of the trip is to teach students how to see a city in its myriad aspects and to instill the joy of exploration and the importance of place. Interaction with alumni and various experts teach students to value the lifelong commitment to education. Central to these cultural experiences is the bond of community formed among the Scholars and the mentors who accompany them.

BAGINSKI SCHOLARS ABROAD

Students in the program can enroll in an optional Summer Study Abroad opportunity.

Studying abroad at the high school level is a unique opportunity not only to anticipate the possibilities available at the university level, but to expose students at a young age to the diversity of culture and the excitement of international travel. The academic portion of the trip teaches students to view travel as more than a touristic venture, and to understand such excursions as educational and transformational to the human spirit.

Since the Study Abroad Program was founded in 2017, students have traveled to Italy, England, Scotland, Spain, Croatia, Slovenia, Montenegro, and Bosnia.

MATTHEW SUDNIK, MA DIRECTOR 2007-2016

“The Scholars Program strives to cultivate a brotherhood of curious and cultured young men. It's an intellectual journey. Whether traveling long distances for weekend visits to faraway universities or attending local lectures and theatrical performances in Pittsburgh, the scholars encounter bold ideas, strong personalities, compelling facts, and divergent philosophies. Together, they encourage collective enthusiasm about the pursuit of learning. It is my hope that this all-encompassing experience of education will remain with the scholars throughout their adult lives.”

BROTHER ERNEST MILLER, FSC, D. MIN FOUNDING DIRECTOR 2002-2007

“Drawing from Plato's The Apology, our students should live an “examined life” whereby they are encouraged to exhibit critical thought in their faith life, speech, public responsibilities, and academic life.”
